

AI WEEK 2026

OCTOBER 26–30, 2026

Five days of talks, demonstrations, and hands-on work on how AI is changing research, teaching, and finding information.

Free • Open to all • Monday–Thursday online • Friday on the Old Westbury campus

LIBRARIES
CONNECT CURIOSITY
TO POSSIBILITY

PEOPLE
IDEAS
TECHNOLOGY
A BRIGHTER
TOMORROW

MONDAY · OCT. 26

12:30–1:50 PM · ZOOM

AI for Studying & Research

Ishaan Singh

Ph.D. Candidate · Engineering

From Prompts to LaTeX: Using AI to Create Effective Study Notes & Research Tools

Bofan He

Ph.D. Candidate · Computing Sciences

Closing the Loop: Turning Google Scholar Alerts into a Research Trend Report

TUESDAY · OCT. 27

12:30–1:50 PM · ZOOM

AI in Health Sciences & Business Education

Stephanie Lopez, M.L.I.S.

Clinical Information Scientist

Gemini Notebook for Early Career Researchers Within Evidence-Based Medicine & Beyond

Samer Charbaji, Ph.D.

School of Management

One Size Does Not Fit All: Evidence from an MBA Class Project

WEDNESDAY · OCT. 28

12:30–1:50 PM · ZOOM

Research, Teaching & Infrastructure

Wen Yao Hu, Ph.D.

School of Management

From Tool to Partner: Practical Uses of AI in Research and Teaching

Ryan Duke, Ph.D.

Engineering & Computing Sciences

Design and Implementation of a Self-Hosted AI Language Model System

THURSDAY · OCT. 29

10:00–11:00 AM · ZOOM

FEATURED KEYNOTE

Dan Russell, Ph.D.

Search Educator
University of Zürich

The Intersection of People, AI, and Doing Research Online

Dan Russell has worked in artificial intelligence and human-computer interaction for nearly 40 years, including more than 17 years on the core search engineering team at Google, with earlier work at Apple, Xerox, and IBM. He is the author of The Joy of Search: A Google Insider's Guide to Going Beyond the Basics, and has taught more than 1,000 classes in person - in venues ranging from fourth-grade classrooms to professional sessions for reference librarians at the Library of Congress.

FRIDAY · OCT. 30 · 10:00 AM–2:00 PM

Howie Rothstein, NYIT Alumnus
Distinguished Solutions Engineer · Salesforce

Howie Rothstein graduated from the New York Institute of Technology in 1995 and has spent the last 30 years in technology with Allied Irish Banks, Proginet, TIBCO Software, and Salesforce. As a Distinguished Solution Engineer, he works with some of Salesforce's largest Financial Services customers on their AI journey. Howie has worked closely with Data, Machine Learning, and AI for over 15 years.

AI WEEK PROMPT-A-THON

PROMPT-A-THON DETAILS

Startup Tech Central (Hank C. Foley Hall)
Old Westbury campus

Design, test, revise, and present practical AI prompts. No advanced AI experience required.

FREE · OPEN TO ALL · REGISTER NOW

libguides.nyit.edu/new-york-tech-library-presents-ai-week-2026

SCAN FOR EVENT DETAILS

